The typhus of modern times is the same as that described by Frascatorius and Cardanus. The pages of the Edinburgh Medical Journal, 1856-68, contain a discussion on the transition from the sthenic or phlogistic character of continued fever in an earlier twelve years to the asthenic or adynamic character in the twelve years which had then just elapsed. This, and not the practice of blood-letting, explained the lower mortality in the earlier period; the diversity resided in the mental revolutions of practitioners rather than in the actual revolutions of disease. Murchison might, dpropos of the errors he was combating, have quoted the passage cited by Dr. Milroy from John Locke: Were the imperfections of language as the instrument of knowledge more thoroughly weighed, a great many of the controversies that make such a noise...
